

Conditions of entry

1. The cost of participation in Golf Week 2010 is £200 per person (club members £130). Non-golfers may participate in the social programme for £40.
2. Due to the continuing popularity of Golf Week, the organising committee reserves the right to limit the number of participants. Early booking is therefore essential.
3. The preferred method of registration is by completing the on-line application form at broragolfweek.co.uk. Alternatively, you can complete the application form below and post it to the club at the address below.
4. We will confirm your booking in writing on receipt of a non-returnable deposit of £50 per participant. The balance of your booking will become due on 1 May 2010.
5. All participants should organise their own accommodation for the week. A list of local hotels and guest houses is available on the website.

Golf Week
 30 May – 4 June 2010

BRORA
GOLF CLUB

Est. 1891
 A James Braid Traditional Links Course

Brora Golf Week

Sunday 30 May to Friday 4 June 2010

Are you looking for a venue for your spring golfing break in 2010?

Would you like to experience Scottish links golf in its purest form?

Over the last 29 years, Brora Golf Week has built its reputation as one of the Highland's premier golfing events.

Brora, the most northerly golf memorial to James Braid in his native Scotland, is the venue for the event which includes

- five days of team and individual golf competitions;
- tuition from our two PGA professionals; and
- six nights of entertainment with a Highland theme.

It's a great way for you and your friends to experience true links golf, Highland hospitality and exceptional value for money.

This brochure provides details of the week's programme and the tariff together with instructions on how to register for the event, either by telephone, post or on-line at broragolfweek.co.uk

I look forward to seeing you in Brora in May.

Ronnie Sim
Golf Week Chairman

Brora Golf Club

Gleneagles may be more glamorous, Carnoustie more prestigious, but it is Brora which is the most northerly golf memorial to James Braid in his native Scotland.

Brora is also the headquarters of the James Braid Golfing Society, and while its President, Peter Thomson, and fellow member Ronan Rafferty annually enthuse, the club golfer, the bedrock of the game, will derive equal pleasure and satisfaction from Brora's 6110 yards.

Given 194 acres of Scottish links land to work on, what in 1923 was entitled "Braid's Plan" is hardly altered.

Here the visitor will enjoy the mixture of bent grass and beach sand, burn water and gorse in glorious yellow May bloom. There is even a railway which comes into play from the tenth tee

With the exception of the short sixth, the outward nine holes follow the contour of Kintradwell Bay in the foreground, with a backdrop of the Sutherland foothills from Ben Bhraggie to the west, away to the Ord of Caithness in the north-east.

The inward nine holes follow the fence line of the bordering croft land, with out of bounds to concentrate the mind. Of the two short holes, the delightful 13th, Snake, winds back towards the sea, whilst the 18th contains all the concerns of protecting a score against a bunkered green a two hundred yard carry away and under the scrutiny of the clubhouse windows.

Accommodation and travel arrangements

Our website (broragolfclub.co.uk) provides details of accommodation available in the local area, whether your preference is to stay in a hotel, a local guest house or a self catering apartment or house.

Please contact us if we can be of any assistance when you are making arrangements for your stay.

Brora is located on the A9 approximately 50 miles north of Inverness. A shuttle service can be arranged between Inverness Airport or station and your accommodation in Brora.

Extending your stay

Brora Golf Club has arranged an open Mixed Foursome competition on 29 May 2009 to coincide with the beginning of Golf Week. Bookings for this competition can be made by phoning the office on 01408-621417.

The Golf Week website will be kept up to date with the details of other Highland Open competitions taking place around the time of the Golf Week and we will be pleased to assist you to book your place in these competitions should you decide to take the opportunity to experience the other courses in the local area.

Tuition from our PGA professionals

Tuition will once again be under the guidance of Brian Anderson and his assistant Scott Dixon

Brian is now the resident professional at Brora Golf Club. One of Scotland's most respected coaches, his pupils have included Scottish Amateur Champions, Walker Cup team members and regular players on the European Tour. He served on the Ryder Cup Committee overseeing the matches from Kiawah Island in 1991 to Brookline in 1999. Brian was appointed Golf Coach Education Manager Scotland by the Scottish Executive under their scheme to offer every child in Scotland the opportunity to learn the game of golf.

Scott joined the professional ranks in 1992 as trainee professional with Simon Boulden at Llandudno Golf Club in North Wales. After spending four fantastic years in Llandudno Scott moved to The Marriott Dalmahoy Hotel and Country Club in 1996 as Assistant Professional to Brian Anderson. Eleven years at Dalmahoy has taken Scott from assistant Professional to his current position as Head Professional.
